CHAIRPERSON'S MESSAGE

It has been a challenging year and Team Aasraa has risen to the challenge! Lockdown 2020 saw daily wage earners face a humanitarian crisis of hunger: no work, no pay, no food. Aasraa donors rose to meet this potential disaster with loving generosity which saved countless lives.

The management team spearheaded a relief effort - combining logistics, outreach, medical, HR and finance departments to work with District Administration and police, to deliver almost 2 million meals in the two months of lockdown in 2020. Education kits were also delivered to children: including reading and drawing books with crayons and pencils. As schools continued to remain closed, children needed to be kept in contact with education, and this led to the creation of The Silver Lining Project.

Aasraa raised funds for smartphones and tablets; we created a grid map of children and distributed devices based on a cluster model so as to avoid any cross contamination of the virus between locations. Almost 3000 Aasraa children have been linked through technology!

Extensive teacher training was carried out to prepare teachers to deliver this blended learning program combining learning apps, timetabled online lessons, tutorials and printed learning materials.

A tinkering lab was also created online to reach children with hands-on, interactive methodology. The children have found these sessions very engaging, and are fast adapting to digital learning.

As the Covid crisis continues, the landscape of jobs needed is changing; Tourism, Uttarakhand's main industry has suffered most; the supply of labor far outstrips the demand, and we do not know when the tourist trade can reopen safely and fully. Education must be relevant.

The questions we've grappled with this year are: what education/training will be needed in post-Covid economy? Adaptive skill sets are urgently needed, and we are dedicated to focusing on relevant educational and vocational needs. The greatest danger we face is for children to return to child laboring as economic necessity may dictate.

We have kept a close eye on our children, supervised their health and nutrition levels; stepped in where and when ever needed. We have tried to create a learning system to reach out to children, and worked with their parents to convince them to stay in 'school'. Now we have to re-imagine their education.

As always, our whole-hearted thanks to all of you. You stepped in and helped us overcome the challenges that Covid-19 brought to the fore, and all of us at Aasraa Trust are immensely grateful for your love and support.

Shaila Brijnath, Chairperson, Aasraa Trust

OUR APPROACH

A stepped progression into learning
Children under the Aasraa Chhata;
4000 and growing...

COVID-19 RELIEF DRIVE 2020

Over 15,000 dry ration packs (2 million meals) were distributed during the lockdown.

Aasraa team ready to distribute the ration packs to the migrants in the Shramik Trains

Chairperson, Shaila Brijnath bids goodbye to those travelling to their villages

Over 1400 dry food packs were given to migrant laborers, who were returning to their villages in special Shramik Trains. Aasraa's Outreach Team played a crucial role during this period. They were involved in awareness drives and provided ration & education packs to the families of children.

EDUCATION DURING & POST COVID

A major setback of the pandemic was the disruption in the education of our children. They had to be brought in touch with learning while ensuring that they had adequate support to fall back on during the course of the pandemic.

We distributed ration packs paired with education packs to our students so that the transition to the 'new normal' became easy.

THE SILVER LINING PROJECT

As Covid has swept across the planet like a raging storm; everyone has been impacted.

At Aasraa we have risen to the challenge of educating our slum and street children while schools are closed. These children do not have access to laptops, tablets and smart phones.

We have created a model, based on a grid mapping system, to not only reach our children and continue their education, but to significantly raise the level of education they receive.

We have called this 'The Silver Lining Project'

COMPONENTS OF THE SILVER LINING PROJECT

Families of daily wagers usually have 1 phone for a family of 6 - most often not a smartphone but a basic phone. Children rarely have access to smartphones, as the adult usually takes it with them to work.

After a pilot project near ISBT, we mapped all the slums we work in and documented students in clusters.

Using a ratio of 1 smartphone for 8 students, we raised funds for smartphones and tablets.

Blended Learning: Digital and Experiential

Clustering: Aasraa Ed phones

Aasraa Education Packs

Real Time Monitoring: Attendance: On Deck, Off Deck

Weekly Plans: On Deck and Off Deck

Student Portfolios

Common Assessment: Bi- annually

Weekly Audits

A responsible adult from the community was chosen to be the designated keeper of the Ed phone. They were given basic training in turning the smartphone on, keeping it charged and with internet data.

Teachers were also trained to teach online, use education apps and respond to children's queries online. The devices come pre-loaded with learning apps - Khan Academy, Pradigi (by Pratham), Pschool (app for younger children); Google Meet, and WhatsApp enabled live video classes.

CONNECTING THE TOTS

Three learning zones were established, and teachers were mapped, based on subject and class level, to match these zones.

Project Managers, Project Leaders, and teachers came together to create phone-wise, class-wise, and teacher-wise timetables based on the on-deck (online) and (off-deck offline) activities.

We have distributed 290 phones and tablets through The Silver Lining Project.

Classes took place in small groups. Each group had at least 2 online classes in a week, and there were groups of 4-5 for those under Grade 3, and groups of 7-8 for those above Grade 3.

E-LEARNING IN OUR GOVERNMENT PARTNER SCHOOLS

Aasraa Trust works in partnership with the state government and funders to bring quality education to government schools under the School Quality Enhancement Program (SQEP). We now assist 9 schools, having added three new schools in early 2021, with the help of The Hans Foundation.

We conducted training for government teachers equipping them for online teaching, distributed covid relief, food relief, educational packs, stationery, and have also set up Computer labs in 2 of the schools.

We mapped the students with the help of government teachers and our outreach team, and discussed how we can support them in their educational needs.

Since schools were closed till the end of this year, we distributed education packs along with smartphones, worksheets and stationery.

We conducted trainings to assist teachers in their shift to online teaching. We organised trainings on using Gmail, downloading and using Google Meet, sharing their screen, muting and taking screenshots.

We also discussed the problems that teachers faced during virtual teaching.

WINGS OF DOON - REMEDIAL PROGRAM

The Wings of Doon program provides after school conceptual and curriculum support to children who live in slums. The children of this program are first-generation learners and they come from backgrounds of little or no schooling.

It is imperative to provide remedial support to keep a pace with the school curriculum. Nutrition and medical care are also integral parts of the program.

During the course of the pandemic, the remedial classes under the Wings of Doon program also switched to online mode. They became part of the Silver Lining Project. We function from 13 centres and cater to more than 1700 children.

NATIONAL INSTITUTE OF OPEN SCHOOLING

Aasraa Trust is an accredited agency for Open Basic Education Programme (OBE) of NIOS - National Institute of Open Schooling. It is for children who are too old to be mainstreamed into age-appropriate classrooms in formal schooling. 37 of our students took their NIOS examination last year.

Students taking NIOS Examination

This Open Basic Education module allows students who have never been to school or are dropouts, to complete their schooling. Its learning modules are equivalent to classes 3, 5 and 8. Apart from the main curriculum, computer education and vocations like sewing and tailoring, carpentry, computer data entry are also imparted to NIOS students.

Students learning carpentry at the NIOS Centre

VOCATIONAL TRAINING

Aasraa began Vocational Training at the educational centre at ISBT and NIOS centre at Govindgarh. As the Government of Uttarakhand announced the lockdown, the training was decentralized to a work-from-home mode.

This program is targeted at the many young students who have passed the age of formal education. Apart from training them in skills such as sewing, or computer literacy, we also teach conversational English and soft skills with the aim of increasing their employability.

This year, Liberty Shoes sponsored the training of 56 women who are being trained as seamstresses by 2 experienced mentors.

SPECIAL NEEDS CENTRE

While working with students through Street Smart, we realised that many were facing issues and unable to cope with studies in our classroom. We realised that they had developmental or learning issues, and got a formal diagnosis from Indresh Hospital

This led to the creation of Aasraa's Special School project, with generous support from The Hans Foundation, which enabled us to have a dedicated centre for selected children where they could learn at their own pace and with a different approach.

We have supported 52 children through our program this year out of which 8 girls are living with us in our shelter home who need special care.

During the lockdown, since the students were home, our staff went into the communities to spread covid awareness. They have also been visiting the students at their homes weekly, on the basis of a roster system.

Our staff was also able to deliver more than 100 in-person and 197 online physiotherapy sessions through this quarter.

They distributed education packs according to the child's disability and level, and regular feedback about the child was taken from family members. This provided our staff with a good opportunity to educate the family about their child's disability, to provide the care they need, to instil behavioural norms and to give the much-needed physical exercise.

THE TINKERING LAB @AASRAA

The Tinkering Lab at Aasraa is an initiative to promote a culture of innovation and entrepreneurship among students.

This project proposes to set up hands-on models and lab equipment in one of the School Quality Enhancement Program (SQEP) centres/ residential schools to promote and channelize students' curiosity and further develop their tinkering skills.

As schools had to be shut down due to Covid-19 and resultant countrywide lockdown, the live experiments took place on virtual modes of learning.

SHELTER HOMES

The Boys' Shelter Home faced the outbreak of Covid-19. Twenty-six of our children and two staff members were diagnosed positive. We ensured that the children and the staff were quarantined and kept safe from harm's way. We also ensured that they were provided with medical assistance during the course of their illness and provided nutrition to boost their immune system. In the same campus, the construction of the Centralized Kitchen and the Multipurpose Hall was halted briefly to minimize cross contamination.

The Girls' Shelter Home was also affected by COVID-19. Fifteen of our girls and two staff members tested positive. We were able to contain the virus by facilitating quarantine units and necessary medical assistance.

Children studying on their tablets at the Boys' Shelter Home

The children attended classes online from the comfort of the shelter homes on their phones and tablets during the course of the pandemic.

With the support of Help Alliance, we are currently constructing a Shelter Home for Girls located at the campus of Government Girls Inter College (GGIC), on Rajpur Road, Dehradun.

The Bhoomi Pujan for the Shelter Home

Proposed Layout

This hostel will accommodate 200 girls, and have a separate unit for those who are differently abled and with special needs. Alongside, there will be athletic fields, a dispensary, as well as a library to ensure holistic development of the inhabitants.

EVENTS AND PROGRAMMES

At Aasraa, we believe that it is important to give children choices that can drive their attention towards cultural learning. This not only preserves traditions but also guides children on how to treat and respect others, and bonds families.

Children sent us pictures of them celebrating World Environment Day from their villages during the lockdown.

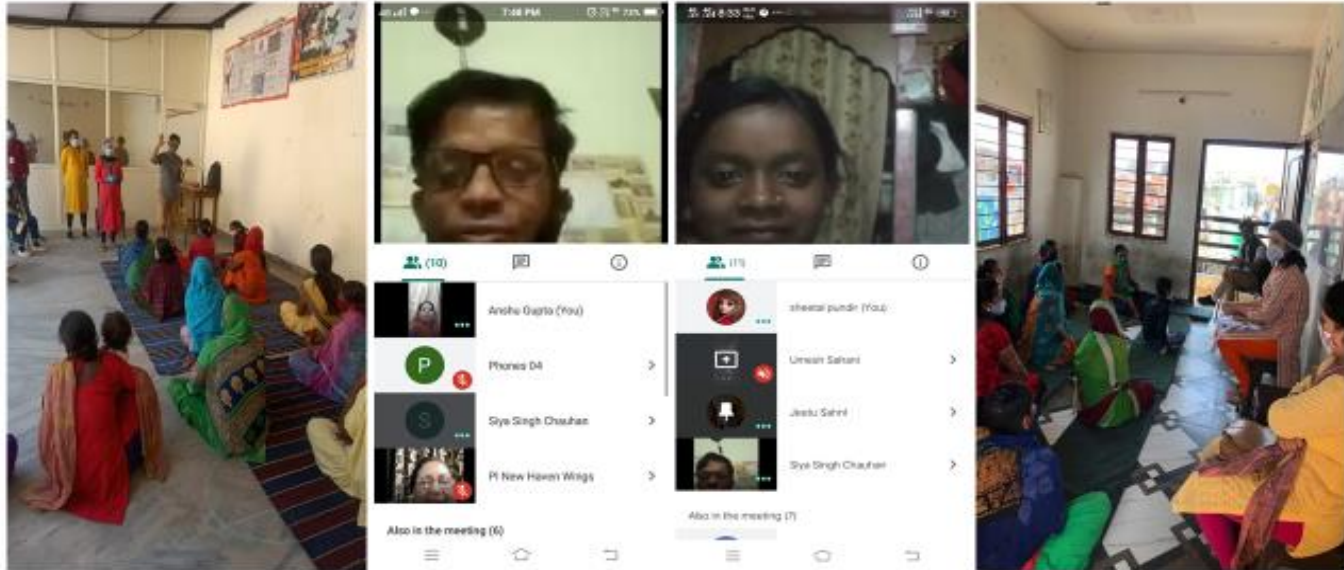

This year, since in-person meetings were not possible, students celebrated important days and festivals such as Republic Day, Makar Sankranti, Basant Panchami and Holi on online platforms. Children participated with great enthusiasm and submitted their entries on WhatsApp groups.

PARENT-TEACHER MEETINGS

An integral part of our approach is regular conversation and discussion with parents of our students. This year, we actively discussed their role in their child's online learning.
